BATTLE OF BRITAIN SUNDAY TO BE OBSERVED IN CHARLOTTETOWN

Battle of Britain Sunday will be observed tomorrow in Charlottetown when the veterans of the RCAF and the Canadian Legion and the Charlottetown Air Cadets will parade to the Cenotaph and hold a short service for their comrades who gave up their lives in the air struggle in 1940. The parade will form in front of the Association Club Rooms over the Bank of Commerce Building at 10 o'clock a.m. and march directly to the Cenotaph where his Hon. Lieutenant Governor T. W. L. Prowse will lay the official wreath and Wing Commander J. Angus MacLean, member of Parliament for Queens, will speak to the parade. Following the Last Post and Reveille the parade will move east on Grafton Street to Prince and on Prince to Richmond. His Honor the Lt.-Gov. will take the salute from the Legion, past in front of the Legislative Buildings. The parade will continue to Queen and thence back to the Club Rooms. Two Color Parties, one from the Association and one from the Canadian Legion, will lead the parade.

FOUGHT IN 1940 The Battle of Britain was fought in the skies over England during the months from June to September in 1940. The German Army had been building up its massive strength along the French coastal area before this with the invasion of the British Isles as its objective. However, before any movement of German Troops could be effected across the channel, the complete destruction of the Royal Air Force was a necessity. To this end the Luftwaffe despatched wave after wave of heavy bombers and fighters over England for concentrated attacks on the Island's southern air fields and defences. The fate of England and that of the free world depended in large measure on the 22 fighter squadrons of the Royal Air Force then in operation. These squadrons were meager in their equipment and lacking in proper replacements but they hung together in week after week of intense fighting which finally culminated in victory in late September of 1940. Three major battles were fought on July 10, August 15, and September 15 where it has been determined the German Air Force lost over 1,000 aircraft. The strong back of the German air supremacy was broken and the invasion of England thwarted. The Royal Air Force losses during the Battle of Britain reached 915 aircraft to the Germans' 1,733. Although this grim struggle was a success as far as war strategy was concerned, many of the Empire's finest sons and most accomplished flyers were lost in crashes in the seas around England. Battle of Britain Sunday is observed throughout the British Commonwealth by veterans of two wars. It is the first occasion that it will be observed in Charlottetown.

Increase Shown in Freight Imports

Freight imports via the Cape Tormentine-Borden route of the C. N. R. showed an 87-car increase during the month of August as compared with the same month of last year. This August there were 1,171 carloads ferried to the Island while in the similar month of last year there were 1,084. Shipments from this Province were at a low point with only 372 cars moving this August. However, this was an increase of 52 from the 320 of last year. Livestock shipments from here rose from 44 cars to 90 this August, and shipments of potatoes jumped from 45 cars to 68. Aside from those commodities the balance of the shipments remained fairly constant.

Of the imports shipments of auto showed a sharp loss from the 42 carloads of August last year to the 22 ferried this August. Fruits were up from 9 to 15 but fertilizer was down from 10 to 2. Lime showed a sharp drop from 19 carloads to 6, but lumber jumped from 23 to 36. Livestock also showed an increase from 202 to 245 while sand, gravel and stone hiked all the way from 40 to 98 carloads this August. Burial showed a surprising increase from no carloads in August last year to 20 cars imported this August.

The report on the traffic figures for the month was issued by the office of the Superintendent of the Canadian National Railways here.

P.E.I. Chicken Canners Form Association

A new trade association was formed in Charlottetown yesterday to be known as "The Prince Edward Island Chicken Canners Association." Original officers elected at this meeting were: President, Mr. S. H. Burnhoe, (The J. W. Windsor Co. Ltd., Charlottetown); vice-president, J. E. Burden, (Fisher Bros. Ltd., Charlottetown); secretary-treasurer, Russell Farnell, (Jenkins Bros. Ltd., Summerside); directors: Mr. Paul Gallant, (Eastern Packing Co. Ltd., Souris); Mr. T. H. Fraser, (T. H. Fraser Packing Co. Ltd., Murray Harbor); Mr. Lester Jenkins, (Jenkins Bros. Ltd., Summerside); and Jack Murphy, (North Shore Packing Co. Ltd., Darnley). The purpose of the association is to safeguard the reputation of Island canned chicken and promote the interests of this branch of the poultry industry. It is thought that the Pure Food and Drug division of the Department of National Health and Welfare may be given more control of sanitation and quality instead of the present code of regulations, and the newly formed association feels that Pure Food and Drug minimum standards may not be good enough for Island canners although perhaps acceptable to canners in other parts of Canada. Suggestions are to be made to try and raise the standards of the new department, should they take over. The health of the nation also concerns these packers who now form the association. All their plants are registered with the federal government and a qualified veterinarian is continually supervising the products. But in the rest of Canada there are small, unregistered plants which cannot get this service, and they may be packing low quality and even diseased chicken which may be used without the operators knowing this fact. The association suggests that the round legend "Canada Approved" is on every can of chicken purchased here or in any part of the Dominion. P. E. Island produces 50 per cent of all the canned chicken manufactured in Canada today. The highest standards in plants and equipment are used. Unlicensed canners elsewhere take advantage of poor standards and equipment

UNITED CHURCH SPOKESMEN WELCOME STATEMENT BY CARDINAL McGUIGAN

SACKVILLE, N. B. (CP) — Unity-minded United Church clerics attending their 16th general council here said Friday they were "pleasantly surprised and gratified" at a statement by James Cardinal McGuigan which spoke of "common social action." The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Toronto issued the statement in reply to Canadian Press and radio accounts of a booklet by the United Church which purports to define the differences in the Roman Catholic and Protestant beliefs. Cardinal McGuigan said the booklet appeared at first glance to constitute an attack on the Catholic Church which he believed was "outraged, ill-timed, futile and even harmful" because it cast all faiths into a poor light. However, Dr. George Dorey, who was elected Moderator of the United Church of Canada Wednesday night, said he didn't believe the booklet was intended as an attack "on anybody" and "I certainly don't think it was an attack on the Catholic church." The Cardinal went on: "It seems to us that a more positive attitude to church problems would be more in order and that, while clinging
