Charlottetown, Dec. 14, 1893.

HAVE A GUESS.

Oh, wheelmen, all take my advice,
And don't forget, be sure
To take a look at the famous "Bike"
In PROWSE'S well-known Store.

The handsome Brantford Bicycle
That in their window's shown
Is as good as any in Charlottetown,
And it may be your own.

A jar in which are cents galore
Is placed where all can see;
Guess how many cents the jar contains
And the "Bike" your own will be.

Be wise, make all your purchases
At PROWSE'S Clothing Store;
Each purchase, on that Bicycle,
Will give you one chance more.

Their Carpets, Hats and Furnishings,
And all, in fact, they keep,
Compared with others in the town
Are more than quite as cheap.

APRIL ANNOUNCEMENTS!

We have pleasure in calling your attention to the following forthcoming publications:—

Ready April 6th.—Canadian Edition of "THE HOOSIER SCHOOLMASTER," by Edward Eggleston. Cloth, 90 cents; Paper, 50 cents. This edition is from the same plates as the American edition, which has sold in Canada at $1.50.

Ready April 10th.—"THE STICKIT MINISTER AND SOME COMMON MEN," by S. R. Crockett. Cloth, $1.25. S. R. Crockett is the new literary luminary who is at present possessing the mind of the English public. "The Stickit Minister" has already passed into the fifth edition.

Ready April 14th.—"WANTED," by Mrs. G. R. Alden ("Pansy"). Cloth, 70c. A new "Pansy" book is always sure of a market.

Ready April 19th.—"THE RAIDERS," being some passages in the life of John Faa, Lord and Earl of Little Egypt. Crockett's New Book. Cloth, $1.25. Of the English edition of this book, 3,000 copies were sold previous to publication. In "The Stickit Minister" Crockett appears as a "new Barrie"; in "The Raiders" he is a "second Stevenson"—so say the critics. This latter story reminds the reader strongly of Blackmore's "Lorna Doone." We can pay it no stronger compliment.

N.B. TRADE MARK THE VARNISHED BOARD ON WHICH THE GOODS ARE WRAPPED.

Priestley's Dress Fabrics

In the long run it is the quality of the material that will determine the success of a lady's costume. Every lady who has at all studied the matter knows this. Priestley's Black Dress Goods are the best that the market affords. That is conceded on all hands. The ladies of Great Britain cordially acknowledge it. The American ladies prefer Priestley's dress fabrics to French. Our Canadian ladies are now asking for them. They wear better than other goods; but their great charm consists in a peculiar richness and softness of appearance, and a flexibility which enables them to drape in the costume with that suggestion of flow and rhythm which it is the dream of all tasteful women to realise.

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

APRIL 26, 1894.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND SITUATION.

READERS of THE EXAMINER cannot fail to be interested in the development of the political situation in Newfoundland. Their interest must be increased by ten-fold when they learn that up to a certain point the case of the Whitewayites is almost exactly parallel with that of the Government party in this Province. It will be remembered that Sir William Whiteaway was sustained in the elections of November last by twenty-four to twelve. The result was, like that of the P. E. Island elections in December, "a great surprise to both parties." The well informed correspondent of the Montreal Gazette reports that "The Opposition accounted for their crushing defeat by alleging that the Government had used foul means to secure the return of many of their party, and had been guilty of bribery and corruption on an extensive scale, by expending large sums of public money on roads and other public works, for the most part in a wasteful and extravagant manner, just before polling day, so as to distribute immense amounts in the payment of wages among thousands of laborers, thus influencing their votes. Not only, they declared, had the public funds been thus wasted, but an illegal use had been made of them to corrupt the constituencies and secure votes in flagrant violation of the act bearing on corrupt practices at elections, and to the injury of the rights and privileges of the candidates opposed to them. These allegations were followed by petitions against the return of no less than seventeen members of the Whiteway party from nine different electoral districts. In this list were included the Premier, colonial secretary, the surveyor-general, receiver-General and the Hon. E. P. Morris, another member of the executive.

The first petition tried was that against the return of the Hon. H. B. Woods, surveyor-general, and Mr. Moores, his colleague, who were sitting members for the district of Bay de Verde. Sir James Winter was the judge in this case. Intense interest was awakened. The case for the petitioners occupied fifteen days, and about fifty-five witnesses were examined. The defence and the closing addresses of counsel on both sides, together with a lengthened argument on some important law points which had been raised, occupied nearly a fortnight. At length on the 27th of March, judgment was delivered by Sir James Winter.

There is but one opinion as to the eminent legal ability disclosed in this judgment, which is destined to be memorable in the history of the colony. Sir James's decision was that the charges against the respondents, as to giving employment in Bay de Verde to large numbers of men in order to induce them to vote, are sustained against the respondents; that the charge against the respondent Woods of giving employment to the voters of the district of Bay de Verde in the city of St. John's, with the object of inducing them to vote, is also sustained; that three cases of personal bribery, by giving small sums of money to two individuals, and procuring a situation in the Custom House for another in return for canvassing were also sustained; that the charge of sending home, by railway, voters from St. John's, was bribery and an illegal practice and was fully sustained, the agency in this matter of the Hon. Mr. Morris being established, but without the knowledge of the respondent. On these grounds Sir James held that respondents are guilty of corrupt practices by themselves and by their agents, both with and without their knowledge; and that the election is void.

"In the course of his judgment Sir James pointed out that Mr. Woods, who had been returned a member for the district in 1889, had promised the people a road, which promise had not been fulfilled, and now that he was a candidate for re-election in 1893, he took measures to have this road constructed in order to secure his election, and he made it a condition with the Executive that he should be put in a position to fulfil his former promise. Just before the close of the session of 1893 a loan of $100,000 was authorized by the legislature for the purpose of building roads to connect various districts with the new line of railway. Out of this loan Mr. Woods obtained some $6,000 for the purpose of building his promised road, and on the eve of the election he, on his own authority, allocated this and other grants, and placed a large number of men on public works. The judge held that this was a misappropriation of the loan in question, as the roads on which it was used did not come within the object of the act, and were not designed to connect with the railway, and could not possibly do so. He also held that the executive had no legislative authority for using the loan in this way. By appropriating it as he did, Mr. Woods used it for electioneering purposes. He held that giving employment and carrying out work on the eve of an election, where the object evidently was to obtain votes, constitutes bribery under the Corrupt Practices Act. It was no mitigation of the offence that public money was used on public works. The giving of a promise was not less a bribe because it is in connection with carring out a public work. "Throughout the entire district of Bay de Verde," said the judge, "during the last election, one subject occupied the attention and governed the action of the people—that was Government money—chiefly road money. 'We'll vote for the man that gives us the work,' etc. This was the subject of most of the evidence of the witnesses. The only politics they knew or cared for was road work. By that, and that alone, their vote was determined, and there was no reason to doubt their evidence. The candidate (Mr. Woods) was in a position to bring into the canvass Government money, as it was called, to arm himself for the contest. Mr. Woods's own address, on nomination day, proved that the work given by him to voters of the district in St. John's, and the money he had received for roads in the district, were intended to influence the people's votes in his favor, and evidence showed that it had done so. There was no pressing necessity for having the work done last fall, and therefore the presumption was that it was given with the view of influencing the electorate." Such was, in substance, the utterance of the judge on these points. As the evidence was clear and conclusive, especially Mr. Woods' own testimony, the judge had no alternative but to find that the charges were sustained and the penalties were fixed by the act—namely loss of seats and disqualification.

Commenting upon this case, the Gazette correspondent remarks that "candidates are not supplied with sums of public money to effect improvements among their constituencies, and empowered to spend it on voters. This is as truly bribing as if the candidate handed it over in cash out of his own pocket. It is worse, for it is wasting money designed for real improvements, and corrupting a whole community instead of a few score individuals."

Forseeing that—judgment being given upon the same lines as those laid down in in the case of Wood and Moores—well-nigh the whole of his party would be unseated and disqualified, Sir William Whiteway resigned in the hope that the Leader of the Opposition would not be able to form an administration or pass the revenue bills, that another election would thus be precipitated, that the bribery and corruption of the previous elections would be covered up, and the perpetrators go scott free. But Mr. Goodridge and his colleagues having obtained a prorogation of the Legislature, the election trials will in the meantime be held, elections for the seats vacated by the disqualified Wood and Moores will take place; and the prospects are that the Whitewayites are consigned to the everlasting infamy which they so richly deserve.

It will have been remarked that their methods were in some respects similar to those of the grits of this Province. A point of difference to be noted is that while the Whitewayites diverted legitimate grants to illegitimate election expenditures on roads, etc., our grits borrowed money from the banks to carry on works which the Legislature had not authorized. The public accounts of this Province show that last year's estimated expenditures on roads, bridges, ferries and wharves, and miscellaneous, werefor $61,248.00, while the actual expenditures amounted to $107,632.36—an excess of $46,384 36. That is to say, on their own showing, nearly $50,000.00 were borrowed by the Government from the banks and expended without the authorization of the Legislature for the purpose mainly of promoting the success of the Government party in the elections. No doubt the Government incurred debts throughout the country to the tune of tens of thousands of dollars, which were not accounted for at the 31st of December last and which will not appear until after the end of next year. But they have so far escaped the fate of Whiteway and his followers.

IMPORTANCE OF MARRIAGE.

THE Westminster Review for April contains an article by Lady Cook (nee Tennessee Claflin) upon the important and ever-interesting subject of marriage. The article is entitled "A Short History of Marriage," and contains much that is repugnant to those who are content with the standards which have been reached under our Christian civilization. It is, however, exceedingly well written, and, upon the whole, decidedly more interesting than edifying. As bearing upon a question which has lately been discussed here, we quote the following:

"It can easily be proved, however, that all the social and moral virtues have arisen from the circumstances attending the right of family and individual property; and that, therefore, any attempts towards destroying these valuable incentives to personal exertion and national energy would be so many fatal steps backwards towards barbarism and universal immorality. Honour, chastity, modesty, fidelity, in their first feeble birth, date from the time when the right to individual property made its appearnce, and when this occurred barbarism was already far in the rear"

As to the reasons for marriage, Lady Cook says:

"But we regard love as all-sufficient in itself, and the true touchstone by which marriage may be proved. And by love we mean that intelligent and mutual respect and sympathy, that unity of thought and aim, that blending of two in one which makes each ready for any sacrifice, or even to die for the other—a union which neither time nor accident can destroy. This alone is marriage, and is able to transform the peasant's cot and patch into a veritable paradise, while without it a palace may be hell. We have heard of men, rough, commonplace beings, who could brave Arctic or Torrid wastes in severest cold or heat, in hunger and thirst, so long as they were cheered by the companionship of their fellows. Our first real hunger is heart hunger. Prisoners denied human companionship have sought comfort in the affection of a bird, a mouse, or even a spider. All true natures must have some one or something to love. And although the love of of youth is charming and picturesque, the love of old age is radiant with beauty. To see two human creatures who have weathered together in closest communion all the storms and ills of life, battered and deformed by time, yet able to look into each other's eyes with a love surpassing that of their first affection, is a sight grander than any other the world can show. For it reveals to us the depth and purity of marriage as it should be."

In conclusion, Lady Cook condemns careless selection of husbands and wives without reg I to ancestral and personal purity, health and strength, physical and intellectual, and says:

"We commend our readers to search further for themselves. Possibly the day is not far distant when education will be directed on better lines, when the teaching of physiology will be compulsory, and soundness of mind and body will be the chief desiderata. And when sex distinctions and privileges are swept away, physical, moral and mental improvements will grow apace. This beautiful world will be the home of beauty. Ignorance and crime, like unclean beasts, will flee to its remote recesses. Men will live for themselves and for each other, and not for arbitrary laws that harass, injure, and destroy. The foul brood engendered by ages of superstition will disappear, and all will see that only through a new and wiser system of marriage can the regeneration and perfection of mankind be brought about."
