Young Couple Are United In Double Ring Ceremony

St. Dunstan's Basilica was the scene of a pretty fall wedding Saturday November 8th, at 8:30 a.m. when Mary Edna Weeks (R.N.) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weeks, Fredericton, P.E.I. became the bride of John Hudson Willoughby, son of Mr. Frank Willoughby (Halifax, N.S.) and the late Gladys Willoughby.

Very Rev. P.F. MacDonald celebrated the Nuptial Mass and performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Joseph Dougan played the wedding music and Mr. Eugene Rossiter was soloist.

The altar was adorned with blue and gold vial lights, pink and white carnations and multi-colored fall flowers. The guests pews were attractively marked with pastel shades of yellow and green satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a full length gown of taffeta faille and lace featuring a Sabrina neckline and fitted bodice with sequin trim, full hooped bouffant skirt with a bustle effect, sleeves of lace tapering to points over the wrists.

Her fingertip tulle illusion veil was held in place by a taffeta faille pillbox headpiece with pearl and sequin trim. She carried a cascade of American Beauty roses and wore tiny pearl earrings and a ring.

The bridesmaid was Miss Hil-da Rossiter (R.N.) who wore a sapphire blue velvet gown with headpiece to match, and carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

The groom was attended by his uncle Mr. Frank Gallant. The ushers were Messrs. Vincent MacIntyre and Joseph Murphy. The bride's mother chose a two piece navy dress with brown fur neckpiece and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Charlottetown Hotel, for upwards of sixty guests. The table was centered with a three tier wedding cake with miniature bride and groom. During the reception beautiful music was rendered by Mr. Albert Blanchard at the piano.

The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. P.F. MacDonald and responded to by the groom. Mrs. Frank Gallant was in charge of the guest book.

After the reception the bride and groom left on a honeymoon trip to Boston and points of interest in the New England States. The bride's going away ensemble consisted of a tan wool jersey chemise dress, with a beige and brown coat and four glow accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Willoughby, Mrs. Jo-Ann McInnis, Miss Judith MacDonald, Mr. Gus MacDonald all of Halifax, N.S., and Mr. J. Barron MacDonald of St. John's Nfld. Congratulatory telegrams were received from Mrs. Barron MacDonald, St. John's Nfld., Mrs. Gus MacDonald and Ronnie Halifax, N.S. and Mr. and Mrs. Brian Willoughby of Baden, Germany.

Prior to her marriage the bride was tendered miscellaneous showers where she received many useful and beautiful gifts. (Photo by Craswell).

Four of the cast of the Opera company dining together at the Queen Hotel Friday evening were Sheila Piercey, Patricia Snell, Patricia Rideout and Alexander Gray. These very friendly and outgoing personalities were modest but also naturally willing to tell briefly of their careers.

Sheila is from Halifax. She is a pupil of Dr. Vinci at the Royal Conservatory, Toronto. Her voice is a lyric coloratura and she is now on her third year at the opera school in Toronto. Sheila had completed three years at Dalhousie University for her arts degree when the call of the music became the stronger for the time being. Sheila spoke as if she seriously contemplated finishing her arts degree some time in the future. She was Rosina in the opera.

Patricia Snell of Toronto is a graduate of the Forest Hill Village High School. She alternates in the role of Rosina. Patricia had been a pupil of the late celebrated Emmy Heim, the international authority on German lieder. Patricia Rideout is from Saint John, New Brunswick. She is a pupil of Dr. Vinci and sings the role of Berta.

Alexander Gray was formerly of Montreal but now of Toronto. He is definitely a singing career. He is another pupil of the brilliant opera exponent, Dr. Vinci. Alex has the role of Figaro in the Barber of Seville.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Old Fashioned Rearing Is Mighty Fine And Nice

Now the year, once vigorous with young steps slowed by age, leads along December paths toward the western gates of his departure.

Because of the Christmas Festival to be enjoyed along the route it is ever a trail of enchantment. Children's eyes shine already at the prospect, and for the elder folk, it brings them, we are sure closer to observing that ideal expressed in that New Commandment written, than at any other season of the year.

"Others" is the keynote of the joy of the Yuletide, not in almost offered, but in gifts of love, small or greater which come straight from the heart.

December? The name conjures up prettiest schemes. It will may spread a soft coverlet of snow on the quiet fields to give us a pictured White Christmas. The spruces and firs will bear snowy siftings of it on the dark of their branches, to give off jewelled glints in the winter sunlight. Frosty stars will watch over white trails and the moon wash silver over all. What a precious month it is—December which comes in today.

In a busy but not unpleasant endeavour for the farmers concerned, the last company of our cattle-kind was rounded in from the pastures today to stalls and stables, and at once the choring commenced to follow a winter routine.

"Those stabled in the home-barns won't likely step out of doors again before they go to pasture next spring" Mack reflected tonight. "But for those kept in other barns of the places his going to mean a trip along the fields every day to feed them and let them out to drink at the stream" he nodded.

"Let's hope there won't be many snowstorms" we said. "Oh there may not be" he offered. "Though we never can tell what's ahead."

Company joined us about the fire this evening: A farmer and his wife, who lived at some distance from Alderlea. She, we recall now, is one whose girlhood was spent almost in the shadow of a white church set cozily amid its sheltering trees. A pioneer church this, with a Scotch steeple pointing the spire, about which little winds of the sea come up in Summer to croon.

Youngish farm-folks this pair, both busy and much interested in the quite extensive farm in which they engage. She left her school-teaching years behind when she married but not those gifts which serve to make her a perfect helpmeet of the farmer. She is a kindly and gracious hostess, and the two are willing and considerate workers in the activities of their church and the community about.

"I'm not saying anything, Ellen, against the way parents rear their children nowadays" James commented when we returned indoors from seeing the car on its way, "but I was thinking, there's something mighty fine and nice about girls who were brought up in the old-fashioned way."

And we chuckled happily. "And now away goes our day! Until tomorrow — — — Diary, Good-night."
