STANSTEAD JUNCTION, P. Q., 12th Aug. 1893.

MESSRS C C RICHARDS & Co. GENTLEMEN,—I fell from the bridge leading from a platform to a loaded car while assisting my men in unloading a load of grain. The bridge went down as well as the load on my back, and I struck on the ends of the sleepers, causing a serious injury to my leg. Only for its being very fleshy, would have broken it. In an hour could not walk a step. Commenced using MINARD'S LINIMENT, and the third day went to Montreal on business and got about well by the use of a cane. I can sincerely recommend it as the best liniment that I know of in use.

Yours truly,
C. H. GORDON.

THE TRANSVAAL SITUATION.

Arrival of Troops From India.

MASSING OF THE BOERS NOT FEARED.

They Can do Nothing Yet For Want of Forage.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

LONDON, Oct 6.—Nothing important has developed in respect to the Transvaal situation.

The Daily Telegraph's despatch announcing that the Boers have invaded Natal and seized Laing's Nek now seems to be without foundation.

The British position at Natal was considerably strengthened by the arrival yesterday of Indian transports with reinforcements of 2,500 infantry, cavalry and artillery—all of which will be promptly sent to the front by train.

The military authorities, apparently, no longer fear the massing of the Boers along the border. In fact, it has been provided that the Boers shall not make a sudden invasion into the territory of Natal. The authorities are rather pleased with this because, they argue, that the tension of waiting will tell severely as to the Boer discipline and moreover they will soon have exhausted what little forage they have and what is near the border, and be compelled to fall back on their base.

OPINIONS OF THE LONDON PRESS.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Post says:—What are we waiting for? is the question everybody is asking, but cannot answer.

The Chronicle says:—"It is on all hands admitted that from a military point of view the Boers are and must for a long time remain masters of the situation."

The Standard says:—"The situation is full of danger, and no one will be surprised to hear all further talk of peace rendered futile by a collision between the Boers and the Imperial troops, or by some hasty raid across the frontier."

The News says:—"From a purely tactical point of view there seems to be absolutely no reason why the Boers should not attack us at once if they are really determined to fight, rather than to give away. To play a waiting game would simply be to ensure the presence of an overwhelming British force."

The Globe says:—"But one deduction is to be drawn from the telegrams received during the last 43 hours from South Africa. They mean war, and that speedily. Indeed, the mobilization of troops in the Transvaal appears almost completed, and even now the frontier may have been crossed and a deliberate act of aggression committed."

The Evening Standard says:—"It must be feared that Kruger could not prevent war if he tried. Things have gone too far."

The Echo says:—"Every day's delay in commencing war with the Transvaal is strengthening the peace treaty."

The Mail declares:—"There appears to be every probability that the Boer reply to the last despatch of the British Government will take the form of lead."

The Leader says:—"What is hoped of the Boers by those who wish them ill is that they may put themselves in the wrong by beginning the hostilities."

St. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct 6.—A schooner with 220 pieces of luggage belonging to the Scotsman is here. The master of the schooner claims $40 per package, asserting that Captain Skrimshire, of The Scotsman promised him remuneration for taking the luggage instead of ordinary cargo.

Legal proceedings will probably be instituted to compel the schooner's captain to give up the property.

The wreck of the British steamer Bay State which, while bound from Liverpool to Boston, went ashore near Cape Race is now entirely submerged and salvage operations have been abandoned.

Moore & McLeod's Display

The writer has just acquired a much enlarged idea of the population of Charlottetown.

He attended the millinery opening at Messrs. Moore & McLeod's last evening.

From 8 o'clock until 10 the second floor of their large building was thronged with ladies eagerly examining the great display of new fall hats, bonnets, trimming materials, etc.

If one might judge from the comments heard on all sides the exhibit was a great success.

Waandering round among so many dainty creations it was very hard to say which was most worthy of comment.

For the benefit of those who were unable to attend there follow a few descriptions:

For example there was a large violet velvet hat, trimmed across the front with an auburn bow of white, mauve and violet peau-de-soie ribbon—and a large grey-bird. Crowned with steel and black sequin trimming, two small grey-birds underneath the rim.

Then came a large hat with stitched blue velvet rim, stitched crown of brown felt trimmed from side with rosettes of white chiffon, brown plume, quill effect, finished underneath with rosettes of chiffon and bright buckles.

A dainty little bonnet had a rim of green chenille, soft crown of green velvet, trimmed in front with a bow of green taffeta ribbon, two white coque feathers, rich ties, finished with fancy ornaments.

The exhibit was the best possible guarantee of the artistic taste of Miss M. G. McKeiver, who has charge of the millinery department.

The store, all through, presented a very handsome appearance. The first floor was very tastefully decorated with new silks, ribbons, trimming materials, etc.

Many were attracted by a very fine exhibit of new dress materials arranged upon the front counter.

A very interesting counter also was the one upon which the furs were shown.

Messrs Moore & McLeod are indeed to be congratulated upon the success of last evening's display.

Lumbago Cured in Hamilton.

Mr. Ed. Swan, merchant, 53 Merrick Street, Hamilton, writes: I have found Griffiths' Menthol Liniment to be a cure for Lumbago. Have been troubled with this disease for four years. Some months ago I used this remedy and it gave almost instant relief at the time, and since there has been no recurrence of my former trouble. 25 cents by all druggists.

Weary of Experimenting

With salves, suppositories and ointments and dreading a surgical operation, scores and hundreds have turned to Dr. A. W. Chase's ointment and found it an absolute cure for pile. The first application brings relief from the terrible itching, and it is very seldom that more than one box is required in effect a permanent cure.

THE TRUE Bermuda Easter Lily

(LILIUM HARRISII)

One of the grandest winter-flowering plants in cultivation.

Pure pearly white, deliciously fragrant and a remarkable profusion of bloom, characterize this charming and celebrated Easter Lily. Its popularity and sales have increased wonderfully and deservedly, for without exception, it is one of the most valuable bulbs for winter flowering in the house. A profusion of bloom may be had from Christmas until spring, if a number are planted and "brought in" at different times. Bulbs after flowering can be ripened and rested a couple of months by withholding water, and will then produce another crop of flowers frequently equal to the first. It is a magnificent variety for church decoration at Easter and tens of thousands are grown for this purpose. The flowers are pure white, 4 or 5 inches long (and frequently more) and of the most delicious fragrance.
