Federal Gov't Is Urged To Create Used House Market

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government was urged Thursday to take action to create a "used house market" as fluid as the used car market. The suggestion was placed before the Senate finance committee by Maurice Joubert, president of the National House Builders Association, representing 34 local builders' organizations across Canada. Mr. Joubert proposed that the National Housing Act be amended to make possible the purchase of used homes under the legislation. The act at present provides only for the financing of new homes. "If the purchase of a used house were to be made possible under the National Housing Act many people who now cannot afford the high down payment required on an older dwelling could buy one," he said. Such action would enable many low-income persons to purchase moderately priced older homes. Persons occupying such homes would be able to collect their equity and many likely would build new houses. The association said in a brief that land servicing for housing in Canada is dealt with on a hand-to-mouth basis. This had resulted in the creation of a maze of conflicting, often non-co-operating municipal authorities.

SUPPORT ON GRAIN

The Agricultural Prices Stabilization Board has established support prices at 80% of the base price which works out to 58c a bushel which for $2 C. E. Ontario oats and 83c for Ontario barley on the same basis on track. In the case of other eastern provinces where these grains are grown in commercial quantities the support price will be established at levels appropriate to the Ontario price says the announcement. The latter statement will probably require considerable clarification.

INSTITUTE CONVENTION The most important gathering of its kind in the province is the annual convention of the Women's Institutes. This convention brings together a large number of women who represent well over three hundred branch institutes which are active in community, social and educational affairs. A great deal of planning goes into this convention and the Institute Executive is to be complimented on the efficient manner in which the program is carried out. During its long history the institute movement had made a tremendous contribution to social and educational improvement, in the absence of the institute
