

'BOLTS' HOME A WINNER

"The terrible tempered" Tom Bolt is all smiles at Tulsa, Okla., after winning the U.S. Open Golf championship and $8,000 first prize money with a 72-hole score of 283. The 39-year-old champion, who has a reputation of having a temper like a thunder "bolt", crushed the hopes of South Africa's young Gary Player who finished four strokes back with final rounds of 73 and 71 for 287.

SPORTS FRONT

By PIUS CALLAGHAN

Young Von McDaniel is having his troubles with his pitching arm. He dropped another rung on the baseball ladder last Friday, one year to the day after he had made his major league debut with the St. Louis Cardinals. Options to Houston of the Texas league last month, the $50,000 bonus pitcher was transferred a week ago to Winston-Salem of the class B Carolina league. Sometimes the road is mighty rough. Young Von has already found that out.

After 10 straight failures by such old hands as Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette, Bob Rush and Gene Conely (in going the distance for the world champions) who should break the famine but young Joey Jay. The onetime bonus baby stopped the Cardinals cold, blanking them 2-0 on four hits.

Jay actually didn't go into the seventh inning because rain halted the contest in the top of the seventh but judging from what the 22-year old did in the six innings he did work, it probably would have made little difference if the Cardinals had batted against him all night. They were that futile in their efforts to hit his assortment of speed and curves.

Joey's selection as the Braves' starter that evening was strictly a shot in the dark move by Manager Fred Haney. Thirty-five pitchers had paraded to the mound since Warren Spahn went all the way at Pittsburgh May 31. So Fred figured that almost any change in the routine would be an improvement.

And it certainly was, it indeed was a pleasant surprise all the way around. He had made the club only because his options were used up and after four outings, held an earned run average of nine.

It would seem that after five years the Braves apparently are about to cash in on one of their most expensive investments.

Remember George Leclerc who played in all the Provincial Open tennis tournaments at Charlottetown courts back in the thirties?

Of course every tennis follower of those tournaments couldn't possibly forget Leclerc. He was the young fellow who was dead serious about his game and very seldom cracked a smile all through a match.

George was a real student of the game and tried to learn everything he could about the tennis. It was a sport to Leclerc but even at that he tried to play that sport as the book said it should be played.

We remember well his grueling five set match with Commander Edwards, a match that lasted well over four hours. Leclerc finally beat the older Edwards but it was the bitterest battle on the tennis courts we ever witnessed.

Next day in the finals Laird Watt disposed of George in two straight sets but that certainly was no disgrace because no better tennis player ever stepped on the Charlottetown courts than Laird Watt.

What got us talking about Leclerc? Well he was in town last week attending the medical convention. Yes, he Dr. George Leclerc now but he hasn't changed as far as tennis is concerned. He still loves the game he played so brilliantly here some 20 years ago.

He managed to get in some tennis with some local players last Friday and was all set to renew the tennis struggle Saturday when rain intervened. He was satisfied, however, that he was able to have it to say that he again played on the Charlottetown courts where he enjoyed such great competition in the mid-thirties.

Come again, Doctor.

Golf activities this weekend at Belvedere Links feature mixed foursomes which get underway this afternoon at 1.30. Matches will be arranged at the pro shop.

Today club professional Cecil "Bubby" Dowling and Bobby Jones Jr. leave for Kentville, N.S. where they will compete in the Nova Scotia Open being held in the valley town, Monday Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Eight years is a long while to wait for anything, especially for a baseball win.

That's exactly what the Detroit Tigers had to do as far as beating Bobby Shantz was concerned. Bobby had a twelve-game winning streak over the Bengals broken recently when the Tigers won 4-2.

Bobby's mastery over the Detroit Club dated back to 1950. Right now he has a 13-5 mark against Detroit. Perhaps the 14th victory will be eight years coming.

The Tigers hope so.

Just when there was starting to be a bit of fun in the American League Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees had to go and spoil the fun.

Detroit Tigers, under their new manager Bill Norman, swept four straight from the New Yorkers right in Yankee Stadium. One would be inclined to believe that if the Tigers could perform such feats, then some of the other outfits might land a little support. The Kansas City Athletics already proved that they aren't the type that terrifies easily once the Yankees appear. Even the Washington Nats have proved tough competitors for the defending American league champions.

Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox have done all in their power to have the Bombers repeat as pennant winners. They appear to lose all the power, their pitchers go into a tailspin just as soon as the Stengolmen put in an appearance.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week the Yankees invaded the wigwam of the Cleveland Indians for a three-game series with Bobby Bragan, Frank Lane and Company. It was probably too much to expect the Yankees to lose all three since that would be extending their losing streak to seven games. But the baseball world looked for some kind of a showing from the men of Bragan. After all they were right in their own hunting grounds, so two victories wouldn't be asking too much.

What happened?

The Yankees take all three contests and just about offset the good work done by the Bengals last weekend. If this kind of going-on continue, then the Yankees will win in a walk.

The New Yorkers always make good world series opponents. They'll be that again if they represent the American League again this October. In fact it hardly seems right to have a world series without the Yankees. But it's too bad that so few teams can at least supply a little competition before for them they enter the annual fall classic.

Our moaning about Cleveland, Boston and Chicago playing dead when they meet the Yankees isn't going to improve the situation but at least we feel better for having gotten it off our chest.

Ch'town Man Gets Bursary

Arnold McCallum, Digby, N.S. is one of five graduating students at the Provincial Normal College, Truro, who has been awarded a bursary for further studies at St. Francis Xavier University in Antigonish.

Arnold is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.W.F. McCallum 200 Weymouth Street, City and received his education while in Charlottetown at Queen Square School and Prince of Wales College.

While in Charlottetown he was keenly interested in athletics, showing exceptional ability in baseball circles. Arnold starred behind the plate for Recce, Knights and victorias in junior circles and for Maritime Central Airways in intermediate ranks. After leaving Charlottetown, Arnold played semi-professional ball with Oshawa Generals of the Ontario County League. He also performed with Kentville Wildcats in the Halifax and District League.

In hockey Arnold saw service with Kentville in the Valley League and Digby in the Western Nova Scotia League.

In 1957 he married Eileen Woodman of Digby, Nova Scotia. Here in Charlottetown, Arnold's many friends are delighted at his achievement at Nova Scotia's Normal College, where he was president of the Student's Council.

Rain Washes Out Second Round Of Flint Tourney

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Rain washed out Friday's second round of the $52,000 Flint open golf tournament. The sponsors announced the event will run an extra day. The final 18 holes will be played Monday.

Under PGA rules, none of Friday's scores will count.

The downpour came with a little more than half the 140-man field through the second round. PGA officials decided the course was unplayable.

Tommy Bolt, U.S. open champion, holds his one-stroke lead. He had a three-under-par 69 Thursday and was trailed by Bill Casper Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif., with a 70.

Five others tied at 71 and only 15 in the field equalled or bettered a par of 36-36-72. Toronto's Al Balding was among them, recording a 34-38-71 first-round record. Stan Leonard of Vancouver had 39-37-76.

Back three from Leonard were Lyle Crawford, also of Vancouver, and Jerry Magee of Toronto who both carded 79s.

Sam Snead made a surprise withdrawal before starting the second round. Complaining of a chill and fever, Snead was well off the pace with a first-round score of 78.

Treatment For Mantle

DETROIT (AP) — Mickey Mantle went to a hospital Friday for a third and final X-ray treatment which physicians hope will end the pain in the New York Yankee outfielder's right shoulder.

Mantle took his first treatment in New York Monday and the second in Cleveland Wednesday.

Mantle said the injury occurred in the third game of the 1957 world series when Milwaukee second baseman Red Schoendienst sat down heavily on him when Mantle slid into the base as pitcher Bob Buhl tried to pick him off.

COOL WEATHER

GREENVILLE, Me. (AP) — The mercury dipped to a chilling 31 degrees here Thursday as several northern Maine centres reported readings in the 30s.

Rollaway Aces Humble Lions

Last evening Rollaway Aces took sole possession of the top spot in the City Softball League by handing Barry's Lions a 14-1 lopping in a regular City Softball League game at the Old Diamond. The Aces have now played 13 games and have a won-lost record of 9-4 to give them 18 points, two more than the runner-up Junior Basilica Youth Club. The Youth Club has two games in hand though. The Lions, who were hoping for a three-way tie at the top of the league last evening are now trailing the league-leader by 4 points and the Youth Club by 2. The Aces and Lions have played the same amount of games but the Parkdale squad has a won-lost record of 7-6.

Henry Hartinger went the whole way on the mound for the Aces, giving up only four hits, walking two and striking out two. Only one error was committed by the Aces.

Vince Bradley, a newcomer to the team, started off for the Flyers and only lasted one inning. In this short time he walked seven men and the losers committed three errors. All of the Aces' players had their turn at bat in the first and four others had two chances at bat to make a total of 13 batters stepping up to the plate just in the opening inning. The winners racked up seven runs in the opener.

Art Ballem relieved Bradley in the second, pitching for the remainder of the game. He gave up eleven hits, and walked two. He only fanned one batter. The Lions got their only run in the 2nd.

Charlie Weatherbie played a very good game at second base for the Aces and on two occasions grabbed hard line-drives to stop the Lions from getting any more runs.

Umpire for the game was Frank Bell and base judges were Red MacFadyen and Donnie MacLean.

This afternoon Rollaway Aces meet a navy team in an exhibition softball game at the Old Diamond.

New Zealanders Winning Friends

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP) — The visiting New Zealand eleven is not expected to win any of its five Test matches in England this summer, but the overmatched cricketers from down under are improving their education and winning friends.

Playing against England, currently the greatest international side in the world, the New Zealanders needed rain and a bit of luck to prolong the first Test to four of its allotted five days before losing by 205 runs.

They were discontent at the outset among British sports writers when the five-day Tests were announced by the Marylebone Cricket Club, the sport's governing body. They felt the inexperienced visitors could not withstand the formidable English bowling long enough to give the customers their money's worth.

ADDED GAME
In response to the criticism, the MCC declared that the two teams would play an exhibition match if three hours' playing time remained on the fourth day when a Test ended. In the first match at Edgbaston, the New Zealanders barely stayed alive long enough to pass the deadline.

As anticipated, their batting was woefully weak, particularly since Bert Sutcliffe, their only established batsman, was sidelined by injury before the Test began. But the Edgbaston crowd warmed to the courageous resistance of youngsters like 22-year-old John D'Arcy and 20-year-old Bill Playle to the sizzling English attack.

To the English side, warming up for next winter's tour of Australia, the most valuable contribution of the New Zealanders is the excellence of their fast bowling, a foretaste of the conditions they will have to cope with against the stronger Australians.

BOWLING STAR
Tony MacGibbon, a towering 34-year-old civil engineer, proved particularly troublesome, capturing eight English wickets and dismissing Peter May, captain and outstanding batsman of the Lome side, for a paltry 11 runs in the second innings.

MacGibbon also provided evidence that the superlative English side still has a glaring weakness, the absence of an adequate right-handed opening batsman as a partner for Worcestershire's left-handed Peter Richardson.

At Edgbaston, the job was given to Mike Smith, the unexpected Warwickshire captain. MacGibbon got rid of him for a total of seven runs in two tries.

DOWN THE BACK STRETCH

At the time he made the statement, Del was just after driving Dottie's Pick that finished first in a $5,000 Inaugural Pace at the opening of the Bay State Raceway. "I've been lucky," Miller said, "and for the past ten years I have averaged a half a million dollars a year in purse winnings."

Miller-trained standard breeds won $762,000 in 1957, and of that sum he won nearly $400,000 himself by driving trotters and pacers. Other drivers, hired by him, won the balance. "This is a grand sport," said Miller. "Just take, for instance, Dottie's Pick that has earned more than $425,000 to be the fourth biggest money winner among all-time pacers."

Miller who is now 45 years old, started jogging horses at the age of 16 and drove his first race as a 16-year-old. He gives of his time freely to help other young trainers and drivers, and his articles in "Hoop Beats" are eagerly looked forward to. One of our most likeable drivers at the Charlottetown track has corresponded with Mr. Miller about a horse in his stable that required remedial agency, and in a few days he received a letter by air mail from Miller, telling him what to do, and since then we have seen the party jogging the horse, which appears to be quite sound.

Durelle, who received a setback at the hands of Tony Anthony early this year, has been trying to put himself in line for a shot at Archie Moore and the world title.

Queen's Horses Win Twice

LONDON (AP) — The Queen had a winner for the second straight day Friday when her Snap Cat won Ascot's Rous Memorial stakes at 100-to-1 odds. Restoration won Thursday.

Bedard Wins By Default

TORONTO (CP)—Lorne Main of Montreal, captain of Canada's Davis Cup team, defaulted to Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., in the semi-finals of the Toronto Cricket Club tennis tournament Friday when an ankle tendon injury suffered earlier became aggravated.

Bedard, top-ranking Canadian who hasn't lost a match to a fellow Canadian since 1954, was leading 6-2, 6-3, 0-3 when the fourth-ranked Main gave up.

Second-ranked Don Fontana of Toronto stopped Henri Rochon's bid for a spot on Canada's Davis Cup team by beating the Montreal ace 7-5, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3 in a hard-fought 2½-hour match.

Fontana was able to win 13 of his services and broke through seven of Henri's. Henri won 12 of his own and broke through five of Fontana's.

Nothing Serious Bothering Mays

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Mays is suffering from no serious ailment but he will be kept in the hospital, at least until today, to undergo further tests.

The star centre-fielder of the San Francisco Giants entered hospital Thursday for tests because he has not been feeling well. He has been in a batting slump in recent weeks.

Dr. Stuart W. Cosgriff said Friday tests were completed, reporting everything "satisfactory."

Italian Race Starts At Dawn

BRESCIA, Italy (AP) — A toned-down, less glamorous but possibly just as dangerous Mille Miglia auto race starts at dawn today from this town in north Italy.

The drivers who checked in their 132 cars at Brescia Friday included none of the big-name drivers who formerly turned out. There also were fewer flags and placards, fewer spectators and less noise.

The famous drivers have gone to Le Mans for the 24-hour French classic, being held at the same time.

The 1,000-mile Italian grind is more like a rally than the great open road race famous in Europe since the First World War.

Under the rules laid down after 13 persons—including playboy Alfonso de Portago—were killed last year, there are no more sport cars in the Mille Miglia and there is a speed limit of 31 miles an hour for most of the route.

The cars must pass check points at fixed times, getting penalty points if they are ahead of or behind—schedule. There are also eight top speed runs, mainly on narrow mountain roads.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Hank Aaron broke out of an extended slump long enough Friday night to club an eight-inning grand slam home to Milwaukee Braves beat St. Louis Cardinals

7-3, and pulled three games out in front of the National League race.

CHICAGO (AP)—Reliever Bob Shaw and first baseman Ray Boone, acquired from Detroit last Sunday, pitched and batted Chicago White Sox to a 5-3 victory over Baltimore Friday night.

West Officials Give 'No' Answer

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
WINNIPEG (CP) — Western football officials said "no" Friday to a proposal that the nine major professional football clubs in Western Interprovincial Football Union and the Big Four pay $20,000 for the privilege of drafting Ontario Rugby Football Union players.

"We wouldn't get enough good players out of the deal to make it worthwhile," said one official. "So, it's no."

Officials of the WIFU held a one-day meeting here before carrying their stand on certain proposals, including the ORFU proposition, to the pre-season meeting of the Canadian Football League, which after the 1958 season will control the workings of the two major leagues. The WIFU then will become the western division of the CFL, and the Big Four, the eastern division.

WEEKEND MEETING
Big Four officials also will attend the CFL's two-day sessions here Saturday and Sunday.

At its own meeting, the WIFU voted unanimously to recommend to the CFL that the two major leagues operate a full interlocking schedule in 1959.

Officials said they wanted no part of a partial interlocking set-up as it would prove "too complicated."

A spokesman said a partial schedule in which all teams would not meet each other would mean a weak member in either league could upset the standings if it was drawn by a reasonably strong team in the other league.

"Under a full interlocking schedule," he said, "everybody gets an even break."

CHANCE DATE
The WIFU also will recommend to the CFL that the import cutoff deadline for western teams be at midnight the day following a club's 13th game, and for the Big Four teams, the 10th day. This would bring the deadline to about Oct. 15 for all clubs except Saskatchewan Roughriders, which plays its 13th game Oct. 18.

The western meeting also approved a financial statement which showed the WIFU with a balance of $12,591 on hand at Jan. 1, 1958.

Several minor points were left to CFL Commissioner G. Sydney Halter of Winnipeg to rule on, including a complaint that the visitor's bench in Winnipeg Stadium was situated too close to the fans who "disturb" the players.

Tourney Is Not Sale Criterion

TORONTO (CP)—Paul Haynes of Montreal, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association said Friday a men's closed championship being played here is not the sole criterion for placing players on Canada's Davis Cup team.

Henri Rochon of Montreal and other seeded players said they had been told the tournament would serve as trials for the Davis Cup team and branded it a "farce" when they learned that an interim Davis Cup team has already been picked.

"What's the use of my coming down here... if it means nothing to the committee?" asked Rochon, veteran of 10 Davis Cup teams. "Sending a team means the best team, the best players. It's a farce."

Hayes said no single tournament should influence the selection of the team.

He said prime consideration would be given to ranked players, like Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., Toronto's Don Fontana, Paul Wiley of Vancouver and Lorne Main of Montreal, team captain.

He emphasized the team has not been picked yet, although he confirmed reports that an interim squad had been appointed consisting of those four players.

Aston Martins Favorites In Le Mans Race

LE MANS, France (Reuters)—British Aston Martins are favorites to win the world's toughest automobile test—the 24-hour Le Mans endurance grind—today and Sunday.

The Astons will be out to wrest supremacy from the Jaguars that have won the race the last three years.

Fifty-five cars are entered. The Astons' chances are considered good because new rules this year limit engine capacity to three litres. The limit is the Aston's natural size but smaller than usual for Jaguar cars.

Stirling Moss, leading the contest for the world driving championship, will pilot one of the Astons.

Ferrari, the Italian racing company, has three works cars and six private entries. Mike Hawthorn and Peter Collins of England are the top driving team for the company cars.

Annual Meeting Of M. A. H. A. Is Postponed

SUSSEX, N.B. (CP)—Bart W. Yerna, Sussex, president of the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association, has announced postponement of the annual meeting originally scheduled for June. It will be held Sept. 20 in Saint John, N.B.

The agenda will consist of election of officers and general business concerning the past and the forthcoming season. Mr. Yerna added that the association plans to devote more time to organization of minor and junior hockey in the Maritimes. More than 12,000 boys played minor hockey in the area last season.
